

Washington, DC — On Monday, March 15, 2004, U.S. Rep. Earl Blumenauer (D-Ore.), the nation's leading advocate of "Livable Community" and smart growth public policy in Congress, will take part in a Livable Communities Tour of the Research Triangle hosted by Rep. Brad Miller (D-N.C.). Blumenauer and Miller will attend two morning roundtable meetings to discuss Raleigh's "Five in Five" program and North Carolina State University's efforts in environmental impact and planning research.

Blumenauer is a member of the House Transportation and Infrastructure Committee and founder and co-chair of the Congressional Task Force on Livable Communities.

To follow is Blumenauer's public schedule for Monday, March 15, 2004:

Livable Communities Forum

WHO: Blumenauer, Miller, Raleigh city officials and planners, represent

WHAT: Roundtable topic: "Livable Streets Five in Five"

WHEN: 9:00 AM - 10:00 AM

WHERE: Raleigh Urban Design Center, located on the first floor of the Alexan

NCSU: Designing for the Future

WHO: Blumenauer, Miller, representatives from North Carolina State U

Congressman Earl Blumenauer Takes Livable Communities Message to North Carolina

Thursday, 11 March 2004 19:00

WHAT: Roundtable discussion of NCSU's efforts in environmental impact a

WHEN: 10:30 AM - 11:30 AM

WHERE: Brooks Rotunda, 50 Pullen Drive, Raleigh