

One of the most vibrant communities in Portland is Sellwood! Congressman Blumenauer toured this Southeast Portland neighborhood on Monday, taking the opportunity to visit the Meyer Boys and Girls Club and meet with members of the Sellwood-Moreland Business Association. After a tour of the Club from CEOs Joe and Lisabeth Marziello, the Congressman met with students and staff of the organization for a look at the wide range of resources provided to the community.

Following the discussion, he walked the SE 13th Ave. Business District, stopping at several local businesses for informal conversations, before arriving at the Blue Kangaroo Coffee House for a more focused discussion on issues surrounding small businesses and the economy. Members of the Sellwood-Moreland Business Association and Metro Councilor Barbara Roberts joined the Congressman as he listened firsthand to concerns of business owners, answered questions and discussed how Congress can play a role in jumpstarting the economy.

See more pictures of the Sellwood-Moreland Street Stroll.

Handing out Bike Bells at Meyer Boys and Girls Club

Visiting the Sellwood-Moreland Branch of the Multnomah Co Library